

University Lecturers Series
Department of Mathematics Colloquium

Dirty Children, Unfaithful Husbands and Similar Problems

Prof. Martin Isaacs
U Wisconsin (Emeritus)

April 20, 2018
3:30 - 4:30pm
DERR 329

There is a certain type of logic puzzle that involves the distinction between facts that everyone knows and facts that are what I call "public knowledge". I will discuss two fairly well-known instances of this type of puzzle, and then a far-reaching generalization invented by Conway and Paterson.